[SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD.]

Sr. Louis, Mo., Nov. 8.—The State Democratic Committee has complete returns from thirty-six out of the 114 counties of the State, outside of St. Louis, which give Francis (Dem.) for Governor 17, 387 over Elmball, (Hep.), a net gain for Francis of 8, 582. The Democratic Committee conceded the defeat of Clary (Dem.) for Congress in the Tenth District. This makes a Regulational gain of three Congressmen in the St. Louis districts.

Arkansas Democratic Congressmen. INPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD. I late bour list hight assured the election of a straight Democratic delegation to Congress. Breckenridge's majority in the Second District is estimated at about 1,000. Cleveland carried the State by over 20,000 majority.

AN AGGRIEVED YOUNG HUSBAND AVENGES INSULTS TO HIS WIFE.

homas Mulligan Keeps Up His Ferbidden Attentions Until He Catches a Bullet from Michael Engan's Pistol—Engan Gives Himself Up, and Is Held to Await the Results of His Shooting.

Another one of the handsome young men who make it a practice to flirt with the wives of other men has come to grief. About 6.30 o'clock last night people in the neighborhood of First avenue and Thirty-eighth street were startled by a pistol shot, followed closely by a cry of pain, which sounded from the northeast corner of these two thoroughfares, At the same time they saw a pretty young woman running through Thirty-eighth street, a fine-looking young man staggering towards the gutter and a smaller and less handsome man running for the side door of a saloon. Thomas Mulligan, about thirty-two years old, powerfully built, and with a bronzed face that was made still more handsome by a ong black mustache, was the man who had been shot, and the man who was running was

Michael Eagan, a young plumber, who had just shot Mulligan for his intimacy with his pretty young wife, the woman who was flee-ing through Thirty-eighth street. Egan was about twe-ty-two years when he was married. That was three years ago, and after the ceremony was performed he went to live with his wife in East Forty-fifth street, near the Turtle Bay brewery. In time a son was born to the couple, and he was christened

Michael, after his father.

The family lived happily together until five mouths ago, when Mulligan, a young engineer employed in the brewery, began to wink at Mrs. Esgan as he passed the house after finishing his work. In about a fortnight Mulligan began to visit the house and it is said that the husband became aware of his visits. He spoke to his wife and she promised to stop Mulligan's calls.

Mrs. Esgan told an Evening World reporter this morning that she repeatedly commanded the young engineer to cease his

They were to commence housekeeping very soon, and in the meantime Annie went to work in Sixty-forth street. As she returned from work at night she would be approached by Mulligan, who threatened that he would kill her husband and ruin her reputation. She informed her husband, and he went to the engineer and threatened to have him arrested if he didn't desist from annoying Mrs. Eagan.

Last night Mrs. Eagan was returning from work, when, as usual, she was approached by Mullican. She told him to go away, and tried to run away herself, but was held by the man.

to run away herself, but was held by the man.

Her husband, who happened to be near, rushed up and lively words ensued. Mrs. Eagan started to run for help, when she saw the engineer strike her husband. Eagan, seeing that he stood no chance in a contest with his opponent, drew a pistol and Mulligan seeing the weapon in his hands, turned and ran for a car; but he was too late, for the enraged husband pulled the trigger and sent a ball whirling into the back of the man who had trified with his wife's affections.

Eagan escaped by going through a side door of a saloon and out the front, and the injured man was taken to Bellevue Hospitai. The woman went to her sister's home and remained there during the evening.

Capt. Byan, in whose precinct the affair occurred, sent Detectives McCarthy and for the polis closed.

When the polis closed.

The confidence of the Democrats in regard to the result in Kings had given the Republican managers in this city their cue, and they secrecy.

They recognized the fact that it was the bulwark in this State, and laid their plans accordingly.

Nothing was left undone, and the money in the hands of secret agents was unlimited. It is said that a large number of these pour chased, and that a large number of these over among the naturalized Italians in the Fourteenth Ward.

Capt. Ryan, in whose precinct the affair occurred, sent Detectives McCarthy and Mullarkey and Special Officers Benning and Hennelly out to look for Eagan, but he could not be found. His pistol was found in the number-yard, 676 First avenue.

Shortly before 9 o'clock this morning Capt. Ryan was greeted with a cheery "Good morning" by young Eagan. The Captain knew the youth, as the latter had worked for him some months are.

morning" by young Eagan. The Captain knew the youth, as the latter had worked for him some months ago.

"I came to give myself up." continued Eagan, "as I have nothing to run away for, and then it would only have been a short time until I was caught anyways."

The prisoner was taken to his home, and together with his wife he visited Bellevue Hospital. Mulligan lay on a cot, and seemed to be resting quietly but was very weak.

Eagan was placed among several attendants and was promptly identified by the wounded man. He acknowledged that his assailant had forbidden him from visiting his wife and that he had defed the commands, but he added: "He had no right to shoot me last night, for I was getting on the car and was not bothering him at all." He said that he had been walking with Mrs. Eagan a few minutes earlier, but thought it no harm.

House Surgeon Riely tried to remove the bullet but was unsuccessful.

Eagan was afterwards taken to the Yorkville Court and committed to await the result of Mulligan's injuries.

Italian Votes Gathered in Months Abend.

Kings County did it.

There cannot be the slightest doubt of this at the present time, and the responsibility for the defeat of President Cleveland in thi State can be placed where it belongs.

The Democratic managers had every reason to believe that a Democratic stronghold, such as Kings County has been in the past, could not do any less than give an increased pluraity for the candidate of the party, especially when the enormous in rease in the registration of the county indicated what the growth in the population had been during the past four years.

Why it should have failed to do this is the question which is now being asked upon all sides, and although the views of representative men in both parties have been canvassed the trouble with the various explanations which they give is that they do not by any means fully explain the cause of defeat.

The cry of fraud has been raised, the trading of the Presidential candidates to help the local ticket in various quarters, and the treachery of local Democratic leaders to their party have been all suggested to account for the unsavented result.

party have been all suggested to account for the unexpected result.

But while they may have contributed to bring it about, it is claimed that none of these causes, or all of them together, could have been sufficient to reduce the plurality given to Cleveland in 1884, to the figures in the present contest.

The returns speak for themselves, and they show that the revolt of John Y. McKane and his followers in the Gravesend district, to which the reduced plurality in the county has been generally attributed, made a difference of less than a thousand votes in the general result. eral result.

Outside of the district in which he was the leader his defection had little or no effect whatever.

It is also generally conceded that the contest between the McLaughlin and the Kane forces over the county ticket could not have resulted through trading or other means in depriving Cleveland of the 8,000 or 10,000 additional votes which he should have polled last Tuesday.

The only way in which this was accomplished was by the free use of boodle on the part of the Republican managers.

Careful investigations have been made during the past two days, and allegations are now made that the Republicans bought up Brooklyn voters by the wholesale long before election day, and that they were active in the distribution of boodle up to the very hour when the polls closed.

The confidence of the Democrats in regard to the result in Kinga had given the Republican managers in this city their cue, and they went about their work with the utmost secrecy.

They recognized the fact that it was the squads of twenty-five to fifty at the polling places, and their votes went for the Repub-lican candidates. This raid on the polls was so unexpected that the Democrats were en-tirely unprepared for it, and no one knew what it meant until after the vote had been what it meant until after the vote had been counted and the result announced.

The statements made by Chairman Willis, of the Republican Campaign Committee in Kings County, are significant.

"The majority for Cleveland four years ago in Kings County," he says, "was 16,000. In order to win this year we knew it was necessary to reduce this majority materially, and our plans were laid accordingly. By hard, continuous and harmonious work a reduction of 25 per cent. has been accomplished. The majority had been calculated to almost a certainty."

Symbols of Death, Time, Day and Night Finely Wrought-Smalls and Serpents. WILMINGTON, Mass., Nov. 8. - Dr. Henry Hiller died Monday evening, and will be buried Sunday in the most expensive and elaborate coffin ever In order to avert this common fate of humanity or at least to lessen its force, Mrs. Dr. Hiller conceived the idea some years ago of preparing burial caskets for herself and her husband, which would not only rob the grave of its victory, but would express by their carved symbology the thought esture's grand economy.

meet about a human skull carved from nature. Out of the skull's left eye-socket creeps a lizard, giving the death's head a most grastly appearance. A caterpillar crawls along the rim around the emolem of death, but round about are daisies and roses and a cutterfly, while in the bottom of the vine is a bird.

Above the plate and directly over the place where the heart of the deceased will be are branches of English and American oak intertwined. In place of a glass cover at the head there is a brass plate, cast and engraved, representing the river of death and the angel of death leading a fair maiden down through the re-ds and grasses into Lethe's waters. In the horizon, the sun is just sinking from sight. Below the river are engraved the words:

In each lower corner is a stanka of poetry com-posed by Mrs. Dr. Hiller.

The panelled sides of the lid are wrought no isse beautifully than the top. In the centre of one side is a globe on wings, representing time; on the other is a burning urn, a symbol of death. On one of the end panels of the lid an owi—the bird of the night—holds a field mouse tightly in its claws; on the other end panel are a bat and two servonia.

All the panels of the lid have foliage and flowers, maple branches entwined with morning-glories and other symbols of nature's reautiful side, but mingled with them are snalls and serpents and grasshoppers, a marsh fly, and horrible dragons with ghastly grunning faces.

British Actors Crowd the Town-Election Day Profitable to Managera.

The city has never been so full of British actors as it is this week, With Miss Mary Anderson's eminently English company, the Gaiety Burlesque Company and the Lydia Thompson company, who, by the bye, are p'aying in Brooklyn and amusing themselves in New York, Broadway looks very much like the Strand. Herbert Kelcey is overjoyed at this Albionistic condition of things, and only regrets that three matinees in Brooklyn this week curtail his Broadway parade somewhat. Still, as Broadway loungers will concede, he has done very nicely so far, and his light has not been hidden beneath the hackneyed bushel. By the way, Jack Barnes-handsome Jack Barnes-Miss Anderson's leading man, is making Kel cey rather uncomfortable. Barnes is looking better than ever, and he knows it. He is not playing this week, Miss Anderson's season not beginning until next Tuesday, and it is positively asserted that Mr. Barnes, of London, has not left Broadway one available hour since his arrival, except when he was called away to rehearsals. It is said that Kelcey feels this rivalry very keenly.

Election Day proved a profitable theatrical day to managers. It is getting better every year, they say. Brocklyn was heretofore the the strongest financial point on that day.

Henry Clay Miner is expected to reach Henry Clay Miner is expected to reach London this week, and cablegrams announcing his arrival there are hourly expected at the People's Theatre. It is said that Mr. Miner is anxious to place Steele Mackaye's play, "Paul Kauvar," in the English metropolis, and also to secure some big stars for America. It will be remembered that last time Mr. Miner went abroad he secured Mrs. Potter, whom he carefully prepared for Mr. Abbey's management. By the bye, "Paul Kauvar" will be produced at the Grand Opera-House next week, Steele Mackaye playing the part of Goural. Edmund Collier will appear in the title rôle, and Miss Carrie Turner will be Diane, the rôle assumed by her at the Standard Theatre. INDIANA SAFELY REPUBLICAN.

But the Democrats Make a Gratifying Gain Among the Congressmen.

[SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD.]
INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 8.—There is little doubt, according to the best judgment, that Indiana has given Harrison at least 5,000 plurality, and in the light of this decision, the fact that Harri-son's own county reversed his plurality for Blaine can give out cold comfort to the lately hopeful Demografia.

WILMINGTON, Del., Nov. & -- Present indication are tout Delaware may give the Republicana a State legislative majority, but the electoral vote will go to Cieveland.

Comment of the Hinglish Press.

[BY CARLE TO THE PRIES MEW A ASSOCIATION.]

LONDON, Nov. 8.—The London journals have recovered from their surprise over the defeat of Cleveland.

The Daily Telegraph declares that the first vote decided the election.

The Standard says it is a matter of regret to Englishmen to see a country desiring to be well and honestly governed, handed over to a chaue of which Mr. Blaine is the nead.

The Daily News sympathizes with the regret the tariff reformers must feel over the failure of their policy.

other papers think the result is still uncertain, and are Lucyed up by hope in later returns. WHAT WILL BECOME OF THE C. D.? Question That Is Interesting a Good Many interest among local politicians since the result of Tuesday's election showed that organization to have a voting strength of only about 40,000.

If the defection of Fire Commissioner Purroy and the lesser leaders who descreted the Counties on account of Mayor Hewitz's candidacy produced this disastrous result, what will be left of Boss Power's army when the immense paironage of the Espariment of Public Works and other city departments is gone?

These questions were put to several County Democracy leaders this morning by an Evening World reporter.

Supervisor Tom Costigan, of the City Record and leader of the Fifteenth Assembly District, and:

'I don't care much what happens how that we've lost our President. We'll continue to be a political organization, however."

we've lost our President. We'll continue to be a political organization, however," Mayor's Secretary Arther Berry, one of the Seventh District leaders, asserted that the County Democracy is not dead, and will continue to exist despite less of city paironage.

Ex-Tombs Warsen Tom Walsh, of the Second District, was of the opinion that Tammany will yet find the County Democracy a lively corpact li was before, without patronage, and ought to be able to do so again.

RAN AWAY WITH A HORSE-CAR. Lively Scone on Main Street, Bridgeport, This Morning.

[SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD.]
BRIDGEPORT, CORR., Nov. & -OR Main street this morning George Mills, a driver for the Bridgeport Horse Railroad Company, was breaking in a pair of new horses. The animals became unman-sgeable, the car-brake broke, Mills's wrist was dissgeace, the horses dealed across the sidewalk and into Setzere's Market window, dragging the car. The car was wedged in the plate-glass window and the passengers thrown among caulifowers and cranberries.

The horses ran through the market, one going into an open refrigerator door, which was promptly closed and locked or a butcher boy. During the time occupied in eccupied one horse the other was thrashing and kicking among the quarters of beef and Spring lamb inside the refrigerator. After his liberation it was round that the horse had been injured so sever-ly that he is probably ruined.

The Long and Short of It: A Republican Tidal Wave.

Chairman Brice, of the Democratic National Executive Committee, concedes the dection of Gen. Harrison. Capt. McClellan, Chairman of paign Committee, was the only member of the National Commit-tee at headquarters this morning and he made the authoritative announce ment of Chairman Brice's concession of He-publican victory. Capt. McClellan said : " Gen. Harrison is elected beyond a doubt. Not only would it be foolish but wrong to make any further be foolish but wrong to make any further claim of the success of the Democratic ticket.

"Col. Brice appreciates this and has acknowledged defeat.

"The Republicans have carried New York and probably Indiana. It looks as though President Cleveland may have succeeded in California, but even if he has that fact will make no difference in the general result."

"I am only sorry not to be able to have something on which to base a claim of Democratic success."

something on which to base a claim of Democratic success."

Senator Quay had just seated himself at breakfast at the Everett House when he received The Everuse World reporter's card announcing the fact that the Democratic National Committee had acknowledged the defeat of President Clevelands

He expressed satisfaction over the news, but refused to be interviewed on the subject.

At National Republican Headquarters ciaim is made of the electoral vote of every Northern State, with the exception of New Jersey and Connecticut. Gen. Harrison wired Col. Dudley last even-ing that he had carried Indiana by 5,000 plurality, and the advices which have been received from California lead the Republi-cans to claim for Harrison that State by about 4,000 plurality.
